The water sprite lands on August's hand and tells him about the magic of this pond. "A long, long time ago when the clouds were blue and the sky was white, the fish were not all colors of the rainbow." The little fish all listen too as the sprite continues...