Is it a dream or is it true? The snow falls from the sky like tiny dancing ice sprites dressed in their finest.
Aloysius and Mouse feel their hearts leap with joy when they see them waving - gnome and mouse after gnome and mouse! It's the most beautiful sight either one of them have ever seen.
Could this be where they belong?
Could this be home?
They take each others hand (and tail) and walk forward...