The faeries and the fox are on their way to Lottie's house. They visit every Tuesday morning. It became a ritual soon after the miraculous happenings during the HUGE late autumn storm several years ago. What happened, you ask? Well...