

Dragonfly and Dahlia came for the gathering from the desert. During the past year they have been visiting Dahlia's grandmother who lives up near the tippy top of a saguaro cactus.

Dragonfly spent his time nearby at any water he could find. Grandmother had told them a story of the night she saw ONE THOUSAND shooting stars in the sky. She made a wish on every single one, and every wish had come true including the one where she...

