

Little Pepe was walking and saw something hanging from a tree. "Could it be true?" he wondered. He had never even dared to hope that he, Pepe, would find one of the mysterious and magical hearts. What a lucky and special day! He gently took it from the branch and hung it around his neck. He looked at the special message on the back. It said...

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---

---