Knitting is Sam's favorite thing to do. She learned when she was seven from her grandmother. As soon as she got back from meeting her new friends she began knitting a scarf for Elind. Choosing a golden yarn she sung a tale into the stitches. She told of sunshine and moonglow, of friends and owls and magic. She knew that when Elind put on the scarf he would hear the story whispered to him and his heart would be glad. She also told of...